David Butler, Russell McVeagh Board Chair

Welcome

We are pleased to share with you an update on our commitment and contribution to our communities, ensuring a safe and inclusive workplace, and managing our environmental impact in this year's ESG Overview.

The last few years have been a tough time for many New Zealanders. We recognise the importance of continuing in our community efforts and making life a little easier for people where we can.

In our last report, we shared our expansion of our Pro Bono Programme and had set ourselves a future target of providing 25 hours of pro bono work per lawyer on average. I'm delighted to report that we have exceeded that goal, achieving 26.6 hours per lawyer - a 66% increase in 2023 from 2022, which equates to 5,793 total hours. This achievement is a testament to all involved, and this year, we are on track to reach our target again, currently tracking at 25.7 hours per lawyer on average.

I want to thank our Board who have shown outstanding leadership and dedication to supporting our people and clients throughout a period of significant challenge over the last few years. We have focused on ensuring the firm is providing the best possible culture and experience for our people, delivering exceptional service to our clients, achieving growth in a sustainable way, and maintaining our contribution to the communities of Aotearoa.

In August we shared that Russell McVeagh will be expanding into Te Waipounamu South Island with the opening of a new office in Queenstown soon. The South Island, and in particular the Queenstown Lakes region, has seen sustained economic growth for a number of years. While for some time we have supported and worked with businesses with interests in the South Island, this move will enable us to increase our support and to help continue the growth story in the region.

The Queenstown office begins an exciting new chapter as we continue to invest in providing a better people and client experience and move towards a more environmentally friendly future. A sentiment further reflected in our investment into the refurbishment of our Wellington Te Whanganui-a-Tara office earlier this year which included upgrades in lighting and air conditioning to optimise energy efficiencies.

I am grateful to, and proud of, our people and the work they do for our clients and our communities. Our teams continue to advise on some of the most complex and significant projects in the country. These efforts haven't gone unnoticed with the firm recognised as Large Law Firm of the Year at the NZ Law Awards 2023 and Pro Bono National Firm of the Year 2023.

I'd like to thank our clients and community partners for their continued support and choosing us to work alongside them.

Tackling Youth Homelessness

We assisted in the setting up of the Kick Back - Make Change charitable trust, a youth development and social justice organisation focused on preventing and ending youth homelessness. The team reviewed the lease document for "The Front Door" project premises, Auckland's first immediate accommodation service and safe space for rangatahi (young people), where they can access mental health services, healthcare and housing support.

" We just wanted to extend a huge thank you to the entire Russell McVeagh whānau for your generous support of the kaupapa. You all played an important role in bringing The Front Door to life, creating space in our community for our young people to be safe, supported, and cared for. "

Predator Free Wellington

Predator Free Wellington staff check bait stations and traps on Miramar Peninsula

Our newest pro bono client, Predator Free Wellington (PFW), is creating the world's first predator free capital city where native species and communities can thrive together by removing rats, mustelids and possums from 30,000 hectares.

New Zealand is a biodiversity hotspot with 80,000 endemic species, but also has the highest proportion of threatened indigenous species, with an estimated 68,000 native birds killed by introduced predators every night! PFW's first mission was to eliminate predators in Miramar Peninsula, which is now free of rats, stoats, weasels and possums, and is being actively monitored in case they try to sneak back in. Russell McVeagh is proud to support PFW's mission through our pro bono efforts.

Law in the Community

Richelle Go Ocao, Ella Marr and Matt Kersey attending the blessing of the newly refurbished Māngere Community Law Centre

We are particularly proud of our long-standing relationship with Community Law centres in Aotearoa, especially the Māngere Community Law Centre which we have been supporting since the '80s. We also support Wellington and Hutt Valley Community Law Centre and its Community Law Manual, our newest client Auckland Disability Law, and are registered with Te Ara Ture – A Bridge to Law, which connects volunteers with disadvantaged New Zealanders across the motu.

Each week, a group of our solicitors attend drop-in sessions at Community Law Centres to provide legal assistance to members of the community who otherwise might not have the means to access the support they need. In FY23, we spent a total of 1,562 hours on Community Law Centres work.

“ Every Tuesday at the Māngere Community Law Centre, we meet with clients who are dealing with a wide range of issues – from consumer issues and debt disputes, to tenancy problems and fencing disputes. It’s incredibly rewarding for us to be able to use our skills and knowledge to help members of our community navigate the legal system and seek practical solutions to their issue/s. ”

Richelle Go Ocao

“ It was really meaningful to hear from David, Liz and Harry (from the Community Law Centre at our Pro Bono Week event) and for us to share our involvement. And we've had lots of new volunteers join the roster as a result! ”

Our firm leaders, Board Chair David Butler and CEO Jo Avenell, are 3 Kapu Kawhe Mentors for 2024. The programme pairs ethnically diverse young leaders in the formative years of their careers (mentees) with experienced executives and directors (mentors), for three transformative conversations. Mentees then pay it forward with a student mentee.

“ I’m really looking forward to being a mentor and gaining more insight into the challenges and obstacles that young leaders from different ethnic groups face in the professional world. Having a better understanding of cultural and systemic barriers helps to inform our approach to providing an inclusive culture at Russell McVeagh, as well as shaping a more inclusive Aotearoa, which are both incredibly important to me. ”

Our People

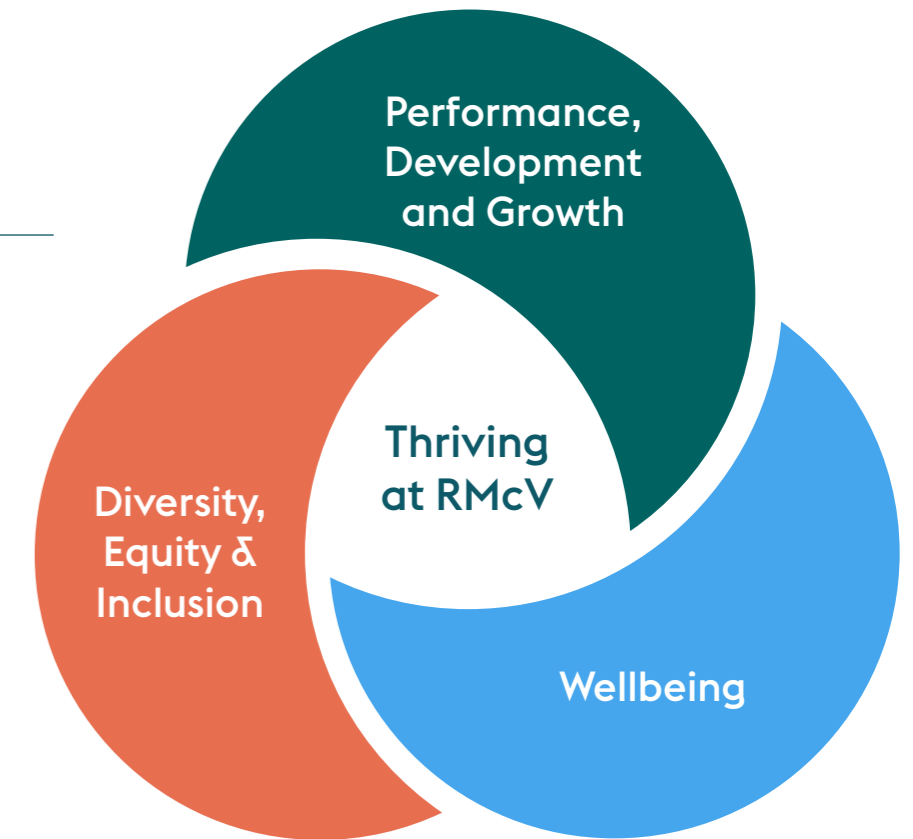

Tō mātou tira mahi

We pride ourselves on providing a culture where our people feel safe, included and supported.

Our People Framework

Focuses on three areas to ensure everyone at the firm can thrive.

Checking in with our People

Our 'Pulse' staff engagement surveys allow our people to give anonymous feedback and share ideas on what's going well and how the firm can progress. This plays an important role in decision-making and the actions we take as a firm by helping us better understand how our people are feeling.

(Results from our February 2024 survey. 82% of employees participated in the survey)

Prioritising Wellbeing

We have a range of initiatives and resources available to ensure the wellbeing of our people is prioritised.

Mental wellbeing support

Our Kaiāwhina Oranga | Wellbeing Support People are an internal network of 20+ specifically trained people who help provide mental health support, and we offer an Independent EAP provider for free counselling.

Supporting flexible working

We provide technology to support flexible working, including allowances for home office set up and phones.

Wellness workshops

This included an Alcohol&Me Programme to help people make smarter drinking choices, and the Gut Foundation Speaker Series to learn about gut health and related diseases.

Benefits

Including an annual wellness allowance, free flu jabs and mole mapping. We offer a range of ways to connect including quizzes and running clubs.

Monitoring working hours

We proactively monitor the hours our people are working to ensure time off is taken to rest and recharge following busier periods.

Recognition

“Kind of a Big Teal” is our “good sorts” initiative which recognises some of the amazing mahi our people do around the firm and to celebrate those individuals that are really living our values and going the extra mile.

Our newly refurbished Wellington office

Diversity, Equity & Inclusion

Our strategy focuses around three goals and we have continually progressed work across our recruitment, hiring, onboarding, and career progression to advance these objectives:

Our DE&I Goals

Gender

A partnership with at least 40% women

CURRENTLY: 30%

(Since 2018, 42% of new RMcV partners are women.)

Ethnicity

A workforce where at least 30% are ethnically diverse

CURRENTLY: 25%

Inclusion

(>80%) An environment where people feel they belong and can thrive

CURRENTLY: 86%

Legend: Goal (dark orange), Current metrics (light orange)

DE&I Co-leads and Committees

Our five people-led DE&I committees work closely with members of our HR team and other internal and external stakeholders to identify and address areas for improvement, and to organise cultural events, across five key DE&I focus areas. This work is supported by partner and Board member Marika Eastwick-Field and partner Alex MacDuff who are responsible for guiding our workplan and activities and supporting our progress in line with our five-year strategy.

Tracking our Goals

2024 staff survey feedback:

“The workplace is very collegial, and everyone is very supportive. The partners and senior lawyers are very friendly, patient and knowledgeable.”

“The firm is very intentional in building a positive, welcoming and inclusive culture.”

“It’s good to see the firm embracing many cultural/societal challenges. Russell McVeagh has very welcoming staff and an inclusive culture.”

Gender Representation

We continue to take proactive steps to meet our gender targets and to ensure women are fairly represented.

Gender and Ethnicity

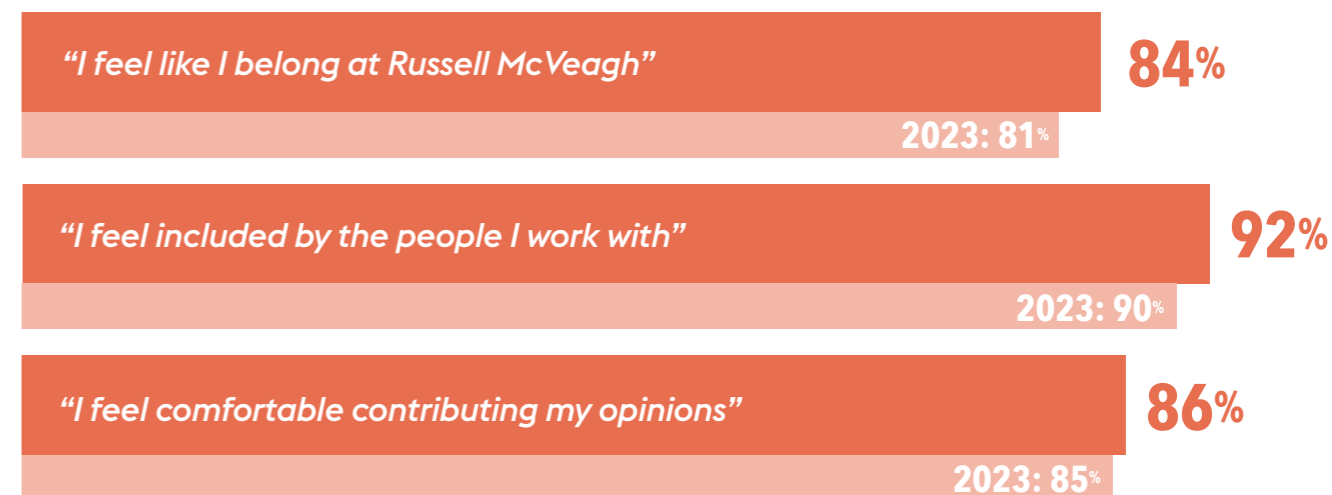

Our stats show that we currently sit in line with national figures*, and we look across our recruitment, promotion, retention and development to continue moving towards a more diverse workplace.

Inclusion

We track against our ‘Inclusion goal’ through specific questions in our firm-wide Pulse Survey.

*National statistics provided by New Zealand Law Society Te Kāhui Ture o Aotearoa, as regulator of the practice of law, as at June 2023. There are currently 15,640 qualified lawyers based in NZ. Russell McVeagh figures based on all active lawyers correct as at August 2024. Ethnic diversity for these purposes is anything other than New Zealand European or European.

(Results from our February 2024 survey. 82% of employees participated in the survey)

DE&I Initiatives

GenderTick

We are members of the Gender at Work community and are proud to become the first law firm in New Zealand to achieve Advanced GenderTick accreditation for progressing gender equity in early 2023. We were reaccredited in December 2023.

Rainbow Tick

Rainbow Tick is about accepting and valuing people in the workplace and embracing the diversity of sexual and gender identities. We have been certified since 2016 and are independently audited on an annual basis.

Reporting Pay Gaps

We were one of the country's first law firms to join Mindthegap.nz's pay gap registry in 2022. In 2024, we decreased our firm-wide gender pay gap to 4% (from 6% in 2023). The current national gender pay gap is 8.6%.*

Modern Slavery approach

We are taking reasonably practicable steps to ensure modern slavery is not taking place within our business or supply chains. We became a Living Wage Accredited Employer in February 2024, reinforcing our support for the living wage movement and ensuring our commitment is also recognised for our suppliers and contractors.

We are committed to:

- identifying, and where reasonably practicable, removing any presence of modern slavery within our business and supply chains;
- acting ethically, and with integrity and transparency, in all business dealings; and
- putting effective and practical systems and controls in place to reduce the risks of modern slavery within our business and supply chains.

External Partnerships:

Our Initiatives

Internal Mentoring Programme

Specifically for our ethnically diverse kaimahi, we rolled out a pilot programme pairing 30 mentees and mentors to discuss topics important to them, their career experiences, learnings and insights. Both mentees and mentors reported learning a lot from these conversations, which will help us develop together as a firm. We intend to implement this on an annual basis.

Menopause Toolkit

Developed to educate and enable our people to support those who may be impacted by menopause, to ensure our workplace is as inclusive as possible.

Career Panel Series

These sessions touched on topics such as career journeys, overcoming challenges, flexibility, and more. Some sessions were specific to our women, in conjunction with our gender goal, while others were relevant to all staff.

Te Tiriti o Waitangi | The Treaty of Waitangi

We are dedicated to engaging with the Māori community in a way that demonstrates the firm's commitment and support to Te Tiriti o Waitangi, as Tangata Tiriti (people of the treaty).

As one of the oldest law firms in Aotearoa, we have a proud history of being involved in some of the most significant developments in Māori Legal, including the seminal Lands case in 1987 – the first case to articulate and apply the principles of Te Tiriti o Waitangi. Today, we work with iwi in a post-settlement world, helping them achieve their strategic and commercial goals.

In September 2024, we supported the Te Hunga Rōia Māori o Aotearoa (Māori Law Society) Hui-ā-Tau four-day conference in Whakatāne.

Our Environment

Tō tātou taiao

We are taking active measures to understand the impact we are having on the environment and the steps that we can implement to improve that impact. However, we know there is more to do both internally and to support our clients as they move towards a more environmentally friendly future.

Our Sustainability Initiatives

We are continually progressing towards our goals to reduce carbon emissions and increase sustainable options. Our latest key initiatives include:

New Travel Policy

Recognising travel is the primary driver of the firm's carbon emissions, in July 2024 we created a new travel policy to support a more sustainable approach to travel.

Energy Efficiency and Waste

Our newly refurbished Te Whanganui-a-Tara Wellington office and our Tāmaki Makaurau Auckland office have timed lighting and air conditioners to optimise energy efficiency. We work with our Sustainability Committee on office initiatives including recycling, compostable bins, sustainable gifting tips, keep-cups and reusable kitchenware.

Bike loan

This year we implemented a cycle-to-work challenge and a new and improved bike purchase scheme for our staff which extended to e-bikes, new, or second-hand purchases.

Tech repurposing

We repurposed 330 laptops over the last year rather than them becoming digital waste. We also donated some of our old monitors to the Wellington and Hutt Community Law Centre while others were sold at a discounted rate to our people.

Greening the City

We support Trees that Count and our annual bake sale raised over $1,400 funding 140 trees. We encouraged our people to collect native trees to take home and plant, and attend lunchtime planting workshops.

Toitū certified

We are a Toitū net carbonzero certified organisation. From going through an audit process, the insights gained measuring and reporting on our carbon impact will enable us to strategically target opportunities for emissions reduction to meet sustainability goals.

We became a Toitū net carbonzero certified organisation in 2022. Under this programme, we are required to annually measure our greenhouse gas emissions (scope 1, scope 2 and selected scope 3), and develop plans to continually manage and reduce our emissions. We also purchase voluntary carbon offsets associated with schemes that are approved by Toitū.

We recognise that there are challenges associated with reducing our emissions, particularly those associated with travel. While our travel policy is new, we see this as a key lever to support the management of our emissions in future years.

Our Climate Change team at the Sustainability Leaders' Summit

Getting Involved

Our people care about the environment and are involved in a wide range of sustainability and climate initiatives.

NZLS Climate Change Law Committee

Our Head of Climate Change, Hannah Bain, is a member of the New Zealand Law Society's Climate Change Law Committee, which monitors and makes recommendations on proposed legislative reforms relevant to New Zealand's climate change commitments and obligations.

Climate Change and Business Conference

We sponsored CCBC, where topics ranged from how New Zealand can become more resilient to the impacts of climate change through a coordinated approach to adaptation, to how our approach to sustainability positions us on the international stage.

Sustainability Leaders' Summit Tāmaki Makaurau

We supported this event which provided an opportunity to reflect on ways in which sustainability professionals can utilise the law to achieve their ESG goals. Key themes included the need to lead with purpose and being transparent about the sustainability journey that organisations are on.

Climate Action Conference

Hannah Bain joined a climate careers panel, hosted by our pro bono client, Youth Climate Collective, sharing kōrero about the options for young people entering the workforce and how to engage with communities, colleagues and other stakeholders to pursue climate goals.

Supporting local environment

We helped set up the Second Suits Trust in May. The organisation aims to give wetsuits a second life and enables less fortunate Kiwis to live a better life through connection with the ocean.

Conservation days

Our teams often work on conservation projects from planting and clearing trees to collecting rubbish along our beaches as part of team building activities.

Our Real Estate & Construction team planting trees in Tāwharanui

Let's Talk Climate

Together with our alliance partner Te Whakahaere, we produced a series which examines the key issues organisations are facing in relation to climate change law and policy in Aotearoa New Zealand. Our ESG Blog also covers a range of topics relevant to clients in relation to climate change and ESG.

“ We engage with clients and broader networks about the impact that climate change is having on New Zealand’s businesses, homes and communities, and how we can take a systems approach towards a low-emissions, climate-resilient future. It’s important that we also measure our own footprint and put in place initiatives to manage our emissions over time. ”

Hannah Bain, Head of Climate Change

Supporting our Clients

With ESG issues being core business priorities for New Zealand businesses, their boards and investors, we help our clients gain value through their ESG strategies, while addressing and mitigating risk.

Sustainable Financing

Sustainability-linked and proceeds-based green borrowing including advising:

- LGFA on its inaugural NZ$1.1 billion issue of sustainable financing bonds. The offer was the first of its kind globally.
- ASB Bank's and Trevelyan's Sustainability linked loans (SLLs) partnership – one of the first bilateral SLLs for ASB.
- The arranger (ANZ) on KMD Brands Limited's NZ$310m sustainability linked debt refinance, representing KMD's second SLL and first (and possibly a New Zealand first) Sustainability Linked Guarantee (SLG).

Renewable Energy

Across the renewable energy life cycle, we help clients with planning and consenting, design and construction, generation, distribution, and user consumption, including advising:

- The Genesis Energy/FRV joint venture on the acquisition, development and project financing of the 63 MW Lauriston solar farm – at the time, the largest solar farm in New Zealand to reach financial close.
- On negotiations of a contract to construct five utility-solar farms, New Zealand's largest ever solar power project.

“ We are pleased to have a team of recognised market-leading experts available to support our clients understand and manage ESG risks and opportunities. Our deep experience of navigating change in regulated contexts, and our broad network of relationships with private sector and Government stakeholders, means that we are well placed to support clients with the ESG-transition currently affecting the global and domestic marketplace. ”

Hannah Wilson, Partner, Corporate Advisory

Spotlight on Climate Change

Our expert team has advised clients from a wide range of sectors on legal and regulatory matters relating to climate change including advising:

- A range of climate-reporting entities on the implementation of the mandatory climate-related disclosures regime under Part 7A of the Financial Markets Conduct Act 2013, such as application of the regime, climate-related governance, greenwashing risk, compliance with the Aotearoa New Zealand Climate Standards, and regulatory engagement.
- Clients in relation to greenwashing, including claims regarding climate-related targets and certifications, and matters relating to the emissions trading scheme and voluntary carbon markets.
- The Climate Change Commission in connection with its review of New Zealand's net zero target under the Climate Change Response Act 2002 which it consulted on in mid-2024.

Infrastructure with Impact

Led by Head of Infrastructure, partner Michael Loan, we regularly advise on our country's largest and most complex projects with decarbonisation objectives at the forefront. Recent highlights include advising:

- On the Harapaki Wind Farm in Hawke's Bay, which will be the country's second largest, and repowering and extending the Te Rere Hau wind farm.
- Submissions to the Ministry of Business, Innovation & Employment on the Government's proposed new framework for offshore renewable energy.

ESG Governance

We are well equipped to support in the implementation of our client's ESG priorities. Our lawyers regularly advise the Boards of New Zealand's biggest companies on governance, supporting them to adopt a longer-term horizon in decision-making. We are sought after for our knowledge of regulatory developments and legal risks, including domestic and international developments in climate change and other ESG polices. We advise clients in relation to policy and law reform engagement, legal compliance such as mandatory climate-related financial reporting and disclosures, and legal risk in relation to ESG issues.

Who we are Ko Wai Tātou

We are a leading commercial law firm with over 350 people across our Tāmaki Makaurau Auckland and Te Whanganui-a-Tara Wellington offices, and will soon be expanding to Te Waipounamu South Island, with the opening of our Tāhuna Queenstown office.

As a full-service firm, our practice groups work seamlessly to support a wide range of clients, drawing on our expertise across the full spectrum of corporate advisory, competition and regulatory, banking and finance, litigation and disputes, real estate and construction, tax, public law, resource management and environmental law matters.
